

HASHEMI, Niloofar

Research Area: public space appropriation, informal urban design

Department of Architecture,
College of Design and Engineering,
National University of Singapore,
4 Architecture Drive, Singapore
117566

Email:

niloofarhashemi@u.nus.edu

Niloofar is a PhD student at the Department of Architecture, National University of Singapore and her research focuses on social dynamics of space production. In selected public spaces of major cities in Iran, she studies the urban life of Gen-Z and how they appropriate these spaces for their own use.

Niloofar holds a master's degree in Urban Design from the University of Tehran, Iran and a bachelor's of Urban Planning from Ferdowsi University of Mashhad where she later served as teaching assistant/instructor for several years. She has also worked with the city of Mashhad's municipality in different participatory design projects. Her previous research papers are mostly focused on a critical analysis of the practice of urban design with a contextual approach.