

Wang, Xuelu

RESEARCH AREA: urban planning, coastal adaptation

Department of Architecture,
College of Design and Engineering,
National University of Singapore,
4 Architecture Drive, Singapore
117566

Email: wang_xuelu@u.nus.edu

LinkedIn

Xuelu is a PhD student in the Department of Architecture at the National University of Singapore, where she researches adaptive urban planning strategies for coastal resilience. With a background in urban planning and architecture, her research integrates geospatial and environmental data, stakeholder perspectives, and innovative planning strategies to address climate uncertainties in coastal infrastructure. She is particularly interested in how temporalities shape planning and decision-making, and in advancing sustainable urban futures through cross-disciplinary collaboration and adaptive approaches.